Waist band

Make a chain of 7 plus 1 for a turning chain. 8st* (this is creating the thickness of our waistband. You can chain more or less depending on preference.)

Row 1: HDC in each st across, chain 1, turn. 7st*

Row 2: HDC BLO across, CHAIN 1, TURN.

Repeat Row 2 until you reach measurement A when measuring to your waist measurement be sure to slightly stretch your work.

If measured while unstretched, the waist band will be too big as the yarn will stretch.

Once you've reached measurement A. Hold both ends of your waistband together and sl across closing the band.

Now turn your waist band right side out, meaning the sl edge is on the inside.

Body

chain 1, create a cluster (3dc) into the next extended row of waistband.

Repeat () until you have reached the first chain 2 space.

Sl into the first 2 dc spaces and into the chain 1 space.. 3sl*

Row 2: chain 2, 2 dc into that same space.

chain 1, make a cluster into the next chain 1 space.

Repeat Row 2 until you have reached measurement B

NOTE: you will notice these pants have no seam and the start of each row is slowly moving over each round, that is FINE. That is how this pattern is supposed to be so don't worry.*

Once you've reached your last cluster of the last row, close off the row with your 3sl as before. Now we will split our legs

Legs

Count how many clusters around. Divide that number in half. If you end with a odd number place your stitch marker in the middle dc of that middle cluster.

If you end with a even number, place your stitch marker in the middle chain 1 space.

Start by making a chain long enough to reach from the back to the front of your pants.

(Example: I make 18 chains and wear a large. After you've made your chains sl into the so with the stitch marker.)

Once you've reached the length of your chain, sl into middle stitch where you placed your stitch marker.

- We will be working each leg seperately*

*If you had a odd number of clusters make 2 more sl. (1 in the next dc and one into the chain 1 space. Then chain 2 & make 2dc into that same space, chain 1 & continue the same cluster chain 1 pattern as before.

Once you reach the chain you will place a cluster in every other stitch.

You will repeat this cluster pattern until you have reached your entire desired pant length.

If you had a even number you will chain 2 & make 2dc into that same space.

Chain 1 & continue the previous cluster pattern. Once you reach the chain you will make a Cluster in every other st.

You will repeat this cluster pattern until you have reached your desired pant length.

Once you have reached your desired length fasten off and cut your yarn.

Second Leg

Attach your yarn in the first space at the beginning of the crotch/leg .

Chain 2 & place 2dc into that same space

Chain 1. 3dc in next chain 1 sp & repeat until you've made the same amount of rows as the previous leg.

Fasten off cut your yarn

Fringe

Cut multiple strings of yarn approximately 14 inches long.

I use 6 pieces of yarn for each fringe piece. These are folded in half.

Now to decide where to add the fringe ...

You can lay your pants flat and find the outside edge or I like to put them on to find the edge.

You can mark this with a stitch marker on each side.

*I counted out 6 pieces of yarn for each row of fringe.

You can do more or less depending on preference.

I add my fringe in a open space on the first row>>>

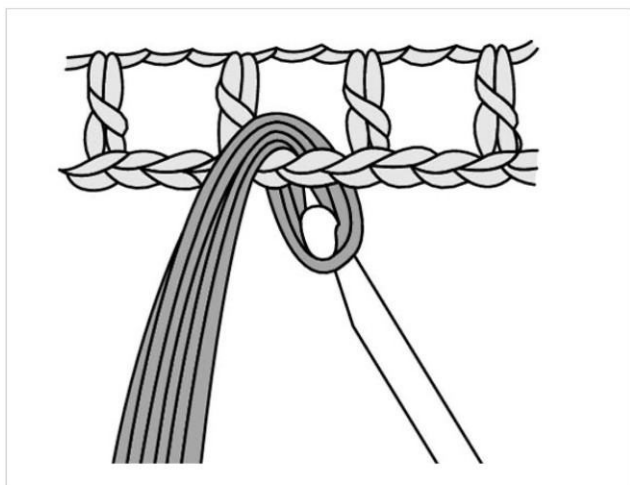

Skip the next row

Add a fringe to the next

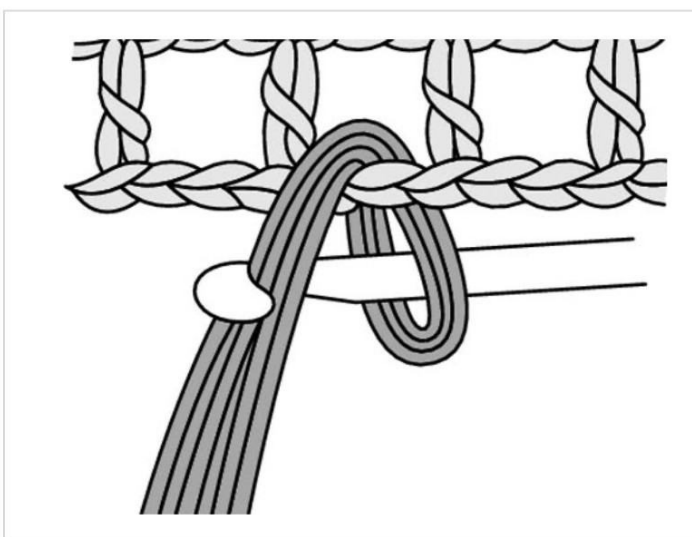

Repeat all the way down.

Take your hook and draw the loop through the stitch that you're attaching the fringe to.

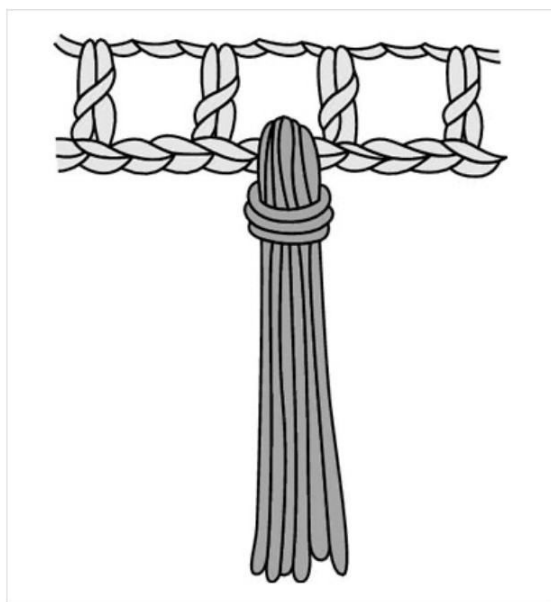

Work from the right side of the fabric.

Draw the loose ends of the yarn through the loop.

This step creates the knot

To finish, trim the ends of the fringe so that they're even.

You've completed one single-knot fringe.

I left about 12 rows at the bottom of the legs without fringe because I don't want the strings to drag on the ground.

Drawstring

You can make the drawstring however you would like. I used two strands of yarn, and made a chain long enough to go around by Waist and extra to tie.

Weave your drawstring into your waistband using your darning needle.
